Congress Session Started

Ike's State Of Union Message Slated Today

WASHINGTON (P)—Congress came back in a back-slapping mood Wednesday to an election year session attuned to White House hopes for a peaceful world and a prosperous America.

Wednesday there was no legislative business, only prayers, eulogies for the late Chief Justice Vinson and a sort of birthday party on the House floor for 72year-old Sam Rayburn, the Democratic leader.

Thursday President Eisenhower comes before a combined Senate-House session to deliver his State of the Union message sketching a legislative program

From then on, in the clashing cross currents of a campaign year, the air of gay good fellowship may drift away like the mists_of the morning.

Demos Showing Unity

For Democrats in Congress are almost as numerous as Repubsigns of a strengthened unity brought on by lashing Republican attacks and a dislike for many portions of Eisenhower's home front program.

And in the field of foreign policy, Eisenhower may run up against as much opposition from Republicans as from Democrats. No major legislation is on tap before next week, at the earliest. In the Senate, the GOP Policy Committee mapped out a program that is likely to set off the first blasts of controversy in the new session. It includes for next week not only a batch of minor legislation but also a start on by the sheriff. either the St. Lawrence Seaway plan or a proposal to limit the President's treaty making powers -a pair of items charged with legislative dynamite.

Ike Faces Prospect Of Asking Billions More For Guarantees

WASHINGTON (AP)—Direct federal farm aid programs have cost the government about 14 billion dollars since the days of the Hoover farm board 25 years ago.

This estimate, as calculated by the Agriculture Department, came to light Wednesday at a time when the Eisenhower administration is facing the prospect of having to ask Congress for several billion dollars more to carry out congressional price augrantees to farmers.

Officials said the cost figures had been collected in response to congressional requests. The tabulation included outlays for price supports, soil conservation, production payments, sugar subsidies, acreage allotments and marketing quotas, disposal of farm surpluses, land rental payments and export subsidies.

The cost figures do not take into account losses or gains which the government may ultimately mark up after final disposal of more than five billion dollars worth of farm surpluses programs. Neither did it include dollars. money spent on research, regulation of farm commodity markets, gathering of statistical intotal outlay of about $1,850,000, formation, and educational pro-

Nebraska Builder

R. H. (Bob) Willis was the first recipient of the Nebraska Builders' Award, the highest non-academic honor conferred by the University of Nebraska. And how righly deserved it was! If any single individual could be said to have been the "father" of Nebraska's irrigation program, it was Bob Willis.

Slightly more than a year ago, we were riding through central Kansas with one of the members of the Kansas delegation in the House of Representatives in Congress. He expressed curiosity as to why central and western Nebraska had made so much more progress in developing a sound, economic program of irrigation than central and western

Bob Willis was one of the reasons. He stood guard for years over Nebraska's water resources. In presenting him with the Nebraska Builders' Award, it was brought out that Mr. Willis had furnished the basic evidence upon which Nebraska won a federal Supreme Court decree establishing the right more to the irrigation water of mountain-fed streams with which to expand its farm program. And Wyoming, with later Platte water rights, was eyeing its waters, regardless of Nebraska's priorities.

Coast-To-Coast Toll Road

A central Nebraska reader writes that if northern route, starting from Minneapolis and when a coast-to-coast toll road is built, west, might arouse support. But the logical Nebraska may find itself out in the cold unless it recognizes that the competition for the super-highway may be expected to be very keen.

We can anticipate that when it comes to the states in the central portion of the United States, the rivalry will be much more spirited than along the seaboards. Circumstances pretty largely determine the route on both seaboards. One terminus will be New York City. The metropolitan center of the United States in terms of population, and the chief shipping port on the Atlantic seaboard, it would be impossible to squeeze New York City out. Likewise it can be taken for certain that up-and-coming Los Angeles, growing so rapidly that even its own people are dazzled, will be the end of the line in the traffic moving to the Pacific coast.

There are any number of routes which could be followed through the American Midlands, however. After leaving Chicago, which would surely find a place on the transcontinental toll road, it could switch south to St. Louis, now actively interested, and then south and west to the Pacific. Or the

Of Men And Things

One of the impressive reflections provided by America's troubled years—the historic erawhich began with depression and drought in the early thirties-veered to a deadly struggle on a global scale—and then a nerve-wracking "cold war" in an atomic age—has been the effort of America's leaders to substitute a measure of bipartisan government for blind partisanship. Mr. Eisenhower followed the example set by his two immediate predecessors; in Mr. Eisenhower's case, by an appeal for Democratic support in Congress.

In a very large measure, this plea for bipartisanship has been limited to American foreign policy. Politics, men in the two major parties have said, should be abandoned at the water's edge. Bipartisanship did not start with President Eisenhower and in the with the sad state of national affairs the peshope and faith that it simists keep bringing up. But they are facts can carry this country Chiefly At Water's over the rougher spots Edge with better results, the wish could be expressed that it will not end with him. The present secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, was sent on vital, important missions abroad by the preceding administration. Mr. Truman got very little credit for it but immediately after the November election in 1952, he arranged for all the various heads in his cabinet to brief responsible representatives of the incoming Eisenhower administration on all matters of continuing public concern. One of the late F.D.R.'s first official acts was to name Republicans to cabinet posts. And forgotten now, it should be remembered that Mr. Truman named fermer President Hoover to head the commission studying reorganization of the executive agencies of government. Bipartisanship, in short, did not start a year ago. It had been utilized for years.

Nevertheless there is the disposition within the ranks of some of the American press to speak of it as something new, something unheard of heretofore. For example, one of the powerful papers of the Midwest editorially noted in a recent issue that the President had taken an unprecedented step by inviting minority party leaders (Democrats) to a preview of his "State of the Union" message. "It is a gesture inviting bipartisan support for the Eisenhower program, particularly defense and foreign affairs policy."

But all the adjectives the newspapers can dig up will not alter the fact that starting its second year, the Eisenhower administration will be held to a much more rigid accounting than during its first year in office. What is sometimes spoken of as the "honeymoon" is over. It well could be that some of the success of the party in power today will depend upon the vigor and honesty of the criticism leveled against it by the minority.

The President huddled with Andrade longer than with any other dip-Mr. Willis was a vigilant guard, ever ready

Ambassador Andrade represents a country with plenty of problems, though many of them have been ironed out, thanks to his own astute diplomacy. However. Bolivia is still wooed by Dictator Peron and by some Communist agitators; so there was a lot of speculation among envoys as to what the two men talked about—especially when Andrade remained mysteriously

However, the subject of their conversation was—golf. The Bolivian ambassador, who plays in about the same 80-to-90 scoring range as the President. but plays at the Chevy Chase club, not Burning Tree, was asked whether he had ever played with Gen. Frank Allen former commander of the Third Armored Division and European public-relations chief for Ike during the war - a member of Chevy Chase.

Then the President quizzed Andrade about golf in the upper altitudes of La Paz, capital of Bolivia. One golf course in La Paz is about 14,000 feet above sea level. And in that rarefied atmosphere, the ambassador explained, the ball goes much farther. He said he had sometimes driven 400 yards on a shot which would have been around 250 yards in the U.S.A.

And that was what had other diplomats buzzing at the White House dinner.

TROOPS OUT OF KOREA

The order to withdraw 21,000 U.S. troops from Korea caused some backstage bitterness in the Pentagon, but is one of the most important policy steps the United States has ever taken in regard to future war.

It completely reverses the old State Department-Pentagon policy against using the atom bomb. It also marks the beginning of American reliance on atom bombs instead of land armies.

Hitherto, Secretary of State Acheson was dead opposed to using the A-bomb in Korea or in neighboring China . . . So was Gen. Omar Bradley and the Joint Chiefs of Staff. So also were our Western allies. And when President Truman once let drop in a press conference the idea that he was even considering the use of the A-bomb in Korea, Clement Attlee, prime minister of England, came rushing across the Atlantic to stop him.

Today, however, it is Secretary of State Dulles and the civilian chiefs of the Defense Department who have reversed this policy.

U.S. military leaders are decidedly doubtful. Adm. Arthur adford chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has held a private debate with Secretary Dulles, arguing that if it becomes necessary to stop aggression we should try to confine ourselves to little, limited wars. We should not let war spread.

This is a reversal of position for Adm. Radford. Now in the No. 1 military spot of the nation. Adm. Radford of late has been arguing for "conventional weapons" and for outlawing the atom bomb.

SKEPTICAL RIDGWAY

Gen. Matt Ridgway, Army chief of staff, and brilliant excommander in Korea, has been equally skeptical of the new policy. Privately he branded the withdrawal of two divisions from Korea as "politics."

(The troops won't come home until next September or Octoher.) And he is highly doubtful about substituting atomic warfare for ground troops.

Hinted In Troop Cut What the military men privately ask is: "What are we going to do with baby atomic bombs if the enemy comes back with much larger atomic bombs? We now know that Moscow even has the hydrogen bomb. Once we start using baby atomic bombs, how are we going to keep the enemy from using hydro-

Their idea is to hit the source of aggression-which in the case of Korea would be China. 숙 ☆ ☆

REVOLUTIONARY CHANGE Thus, though not announced

in so many words, the Korean troop withdrawal is the most radical change of American military and foreign strategy since Eisenhower took office one year

Note 1 - Gen. Ridgway was understandably so upset over the cuts Secretary of Defense Wilson ordered in the U.S. Army that he tried not to appear before the National Security Council where he would have to defend those cuts. When Ridgway tried to arrange a conflicting engagement, Wilson finally had to order him to be present and dutifully help chop down the Army budget.

Note 2-Secretary of the Army Stevens was less dutiful. He called on the President in person, urged that the Army not be cut so drastically. Eisenhower made no decision, told Stevens the matter would be decided by the National Security

NONEXPLOSIVE ATOM

A French newspaper recently hinted at it, but the United States has discovered how to take the explosive power out of atomic material. This is the reason President Eisenhower felt it safe to propose an international atomic pool for peaceful purposes.

Inside story is that the United States, as far back as 1946, developed a process for "denaturing" fissionable material so that it can be used for atomic fuel but

The President's plan would require that all fissionable material, contributed to the atomic pool, must be processed, so that no nation could use it to construct atomic bombs. Under this process, the atomic material is contaminated until it is unusable for explosives. At least, atomic scientists claim it would take so many years to restore the polluted material that it wouldn't be worth

Parking Rules

Lincoln, Neb. To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In regard to over-parking and paying fines-this has really got to be something. A person drives around now for 10 or 15 minutes finding a place. Maybe he finds one and maybe he doesn't. Just the same he pays 5 cents to park for 60 minutes. In the meantime, if the city patrol has marked his left rear tire, when he comes back he may be subject to an over-parking fine, even though he has fed the meter again.

It seems as if there just isn't any end to taxes, fines, etc. On Jan. 2 we drove quite a while. finally found a place to park, fed the meter, then walked the rest of the way to the downtown area to do some shopping. If one happens to have an appoinment with doctor or dentist and can't get back in time, he is subject to a fine. I think a driver should be allowed two hours to a meter. That would give him a little longer to shop. We do not want violate the rules of Lincoln, but are only expressing our

Atty. E. H. Curtiss of Plainview Ray Johnson Files For Re-Election

State Auditor Ray Johnson of Lincoln filed Wednesday for reelection on the Republican ticket. Johnson is seeking a ninth con-secutive term, having held the post since first being elected in

He had been mentioned as a possible choice for the job as secretary of the Nebraska Livestock Growers Association. This post is expected to be filled sometime next summer.

Johnson was the first of the incumbent state officials-all Republicans-to file. It has been his custom to make his filing right after the first of each election

The auditor recalled that he had carried every county in the state in his last four election campaigns. In the last state general election he was the top vote getter among the state officials elected.

farm prices through much of prices received by Nebraska farmers took an end-of-the-year jump to a level equal to that of December, 1952. The government report of farm prices showed that those prices received by farmers in this state increased eight points between Nov. 15 and Dec. 15, 1953. With this increase the price index stood at 274 per cent of the 1910-14 base period, just where it was a year earlier.

Only potatoes, dry edible beans and seeds, failed to show price increases. Livestock prives averaged higher primarily as a result of a sharp increase in the price of hogs. The hog prices hit an average of $22.60 to stand at the second highest Dec. 15 level of record. The top figure was $25.30 in 1947. However, the Dec. 15 level in 1953 was $6.80 over that of 1952 Drop In Cattle Prices

Catile prices showed a 60 cent decline at $17.20 average. being the lowest Dec. 15 level since 1945. The average was $4.20 below 1952. Prices for calves, sheep and lambs held steady with the November level. The food grains index was up two points as a result of a one cent increase, to $2.06 average per bushel, for wheat. Price increases were recorded for all feed grains and hay items with the exception of bar-ley. Barley held steady at $1.11

Corn was up six cents over November at $1.39, oats were up three cents at 74 cents and rye was up two cents at $1.08. Hay. Alfalfa

Hay per ton was up $1.20 at $20.80 and alfalfa was up $1.30 with wild hay increasing $1.10

The average potato price hit a three year low. On Dec. 15 the average was 45 cents per bushel, less than one-third of the price in 1952 on Dec. 15 and 25 cents below November of 1953. Soybeans were 18 cents over NEWARK, Neb. (A) - The 23 boxholders of the Newark postoffice were caught in squeeze ARTHUR L. KENNEDY ..

Wednesday that left them virtually without mail service.

It's a complicated situation in which the 75 year old postoffice, located about midway between Kearney and Minden, finds itself.

Newark has been getting its mail by delivery from Kearney as a stop on route 4 of carrier.

Mindell Count the past 26, years like died in a Densir hospital Born at Chillitothe, Mo in lived near Lamesport Mo until 1917 which he moved to Cheyenne Wells. BERTHA M. MILLEY postoffice received orders to discontinue this delivery as of Dec.

According to Newark Postmaster E C. Mitchell, the trouble apparently started when the rumor got around in recent months that the Newark postoffice would

Three Petitions

Petitions went into circulation. One asked that Newark be put on a Minden route. Another asked that the postoffice be on a Kearney route, Still another simply asked that the Newark postoffice be retained. The result of the petitions was that the department ordered the deliveries by Carrier Bell discontinued. Another order was issued putting a Minden route through Newark.

The trouble was that no order apparently was issued to have the relay point for Newark's mail changed from Kearney to Minden or to assign the Minden carmer the chore of delivering Newark mail

The result is that the Minden Carrier goes through Newark but doesn't stop; the Newark mail still goes to Kearney but is currently just lying in its pouches in the Kearney office, and outgoing mail accumulates at the Newark office.

Mitchell did pick up the Newark pouch from the Kearney office Saturday but is now standing pat, waiting for word on what the procedure should be.

'54 Fatalities Mount With 2 More Deaths

Two more traffic deaths went into the new year's records, giving Nebraska a total of seven fatalities in the first six days of 1954.

Mrs. Dorothy M. Fields, 33, Waterloo, Neb., died Wednesday at Douglas County Hospital in Omaha of injuries received New Year's night just west of Omaha. Also in Omaha, Carl R. Swanson, 22, who lived on a farm near Craig, died in a hospital of injuries suffered in a one car accident early Saturday morn-

Sheriff Walter Dean of Tekamah said Swanson's car apparently went out of control six miles south and one-half mile west of Craig. Swanson, alone in the car, suffered head injuries. He was transferred from the Oakland hospital to Omaha and died a few hours later. Swanson had been employed of late at the Nebraska Ord-nance plant at Mead. Mrs. Fields suffered internal injuries.

The Nebraska Safety Patrol said she was riding in a car driven by her husband, William. Patrolmen reported the car went out of control and struck a railing on the Pappio Creek bridge about one mile east of 132nd and Maple streets at the western outskirts of Omaha.

Fields and the couple's two sons, Clarence, 4, and Frank, 6, suffered only bruises

Now_effortless, steadier handling

with New Ball-Joint Front Suspension

You'll notice the difference the moment you take the wheel. Mercury's new ball-joint front wheel suspension reduces the road shock of humps and ruts. It gives you a feeling of greater control, better stability, as you take sharp curves and corners. It makes handling far easier on any road. And only Mercury has it in its price class.

And Mercury also brings you an entirely new 161horsepower overhead valve V-8-with a new kind of power that makes any driving easy. It's livelier, safer, more responsive. For example, when passing or hill climbing, Mercury's tremendous reserve power is available instantly, automatically—released by a unique 4-harrel carbureter, with the two extra barrels tacuum controlled. And although 28% more powerful than last year's Mercury, this new V-8 means you can get more miles per gallon.

We invite you to stop around—to see Mercury's new, longer, lower looking styling, stunning new interiors . . . to try Mercury's new performance on the road.

FOR INSTANCE, the active and alumnae members of Kappa Alpha Theta were busy yesterday-and will be today-with a district president-But since the prexie of District VII is Mrs. Dale Ganz who resides in Lincoln, the chapter won't have to turn on the electric blanket in the guest room-Mrs. Ganz, we hear, had conferences at the chapter house on Wednesday

Bride

MRS. GLEN ANDERSON

Miss Bonnie Ann Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olson of Davey, became the bride of Glen O. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Anderson, at an early afternoon ceremony on Monday, Jan. 4. Gladioli and pompon chrysanthemums in pastel tones appointed the chapel of St. Paul Methodist Church for the double ring service, which was read by Dr. Frank A Court in the presence of A. Court in the presence of the immediate families.

The couple's only attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Phil Anderson of Bennet, brother and sister-in-law of the bride-

For her wedding, the bride chose a tailored ensemble of beige wool designed with a pencil slim skirt and boxed jacket. Her accessories were brown and she wore a shoulder corsage of red roses. Immediately following the ceremony, a reception for the members of the family and a small group of friends was held at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Upon their return from a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will make their home in Lincoln.

The Lincoln Chiefs may hire that long-awaited general man-He is W A "Bill" Herring, a native of Goldsboro, N. C., who has been general manager of the St. Petersburg, Fla., team of the Florida State League (Class) B) the past two seasons. "The Lincoln Club's board of directors told me Wednesday that a decision would be made on me Thursday," Herring told The Star in his first Lincoln interview. "I have another job in the offing and wanted to know definitely about my status with the Lincoln club."

"If I get the job, I will move here as soon as possible," Herring added. "My wife and three children will stay in Goldsboro, however, until next summer when school is out."

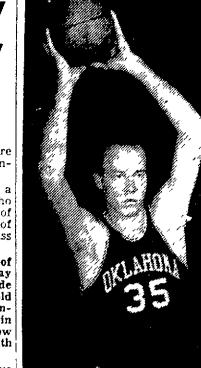

Herring, 42, is noted as an experienced baseball man and a promoter of the Bill Hayes school. He and Hayes, who started the independent Lincoln baseball movement last winter and affected the tie-up with the Milwaukee Braves, were together at Temple, Tex, in 1951. Herring's St. Petersburg team last summer drew 82,000 patrons which was second only to Miami in the league.

"I have looked over the Lincoln Park (Sherman Field) and of education, failed in a history I think it is ample," he said. "A" course for the fall quarter, the is a good baseball town."

Why be satisfied with "just any" beer?

There is no substitute for Schlitz

People like to be seen drinking or serving Schlitz. They find little satisfaction in beers that are "almost as good." Since Schlitz is one of the finer things of life that everybody can afford, there is no reason to be content with "just any" beer.

Your own good taste will tell you why Schlitz has given more satisfaction to more people than any other beer in the world.

If it's real satisfaction you want-ask for Schlitz!

Your retailer will be happy to serve you when you ask for Schlitz because he knows that there is nothing more valuable to him than a satisfied customer.

Curtis Introduces His Social Security Revamp Bil

Action Called 'Last Opportunity To Make The Program Sound'

From Press Dispatches
WASHINGTON-Rep. Carl T. Curus (R-Neb) Wednesday introduced a bill to revamp the nation's social security system and declared this is "our last good opportunity to make the program sound."

Curtis is chairman of the Social Security Subcommittee of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Moving into the controver-sial social security field on the opening day of Congress, he declared some critics of his farreaching new plan are "partisan present system also does, he inobstructionists (who) either are sisted. Lewis Promises Millions To Dock Union ILA Strike Fund Aid the old giant of independent trade unionism, reportedly has promised millions of dollars if necesgary as a strike fund for the embattled International Longshoremen's Association (Ind.).

Reported

ILA President William V. Bradley happily announced Wednesday that Lewis poured an added $50,000 into the union's coffers for the second time in recent weeks "and promised to back us all the way, regardless of what it was,

"It might be five million dollars," Bradley added. "He promised me all the support we

However, a rival AFL dock union took a dim view of Lewis' handouts and an official said: "Any money that is going to the old ILA is going into the pockets of the mob."

Strike Averted

Meanwhile, a threatened Friday strike of three small locals of ILA specialists was averted during the day with an agreement on a health insurance plan. Weighers, scalesmen and samplers had threatened picket lines which could have tied up the whole East Coast if respected by longshoremen.
The ILA also has threatened

Dewey, both seeking a review of the election by the NLRB, have charged coercion of longshore-men by waterfront mobsters working for the ILA. Not 'Wise'

"I don't think they'll get any-where with that move," Bradley said Wednesday. "We won an election and I don't think they can steal it on us. It won't be wise for them-or anybody-if

During the campaign that preceded the NLRB vote, Lewis gave the ILA $50,000 to help the almost bankrupt union line up support along the waterfront. A final ILA victory on the docks would give the president of the United Mine Workers (Ind) a strong voice in water-front affairs. The ILA has even talked of eventually affiliating with Lewis in a new labor fed-eration in opposition to the AFL

Harrison Predicts Early Adjournment

WASHINGTON (INS) - Repesentative Robert Harrison (R-Neb), predicted that because 1954 is an election year there will be "a lot of pressure to adjourn Congress early.'

Congressman Harrison, representing Nebraska's Third district, said some committees already have started hearings on bills that are pending.
